Scoot Honours Everyday Heroes with a Trip on its Themed Sony Pictures' Spider-Man: Brand New Day Flight to Celebrate National Day

Singapore – Scoot, the low-cost subsidiary of Singapore Airlines (SIA), is marking Singapore's 61st year of independence by celebrating the everyday heroes who make a difference in the lives of others. In collaboration with Care Corner and TOUCH Community Services, Scoot hosted 15 community heroes on its themed Spider-Man: Brand New Day flight with a memorable getaway to Nanjing, China, from 30 July to 2 August 2026.

Since 2023, Scoot has sought meaningful ways to celebrate National Day with fellow Singaporeans. From bringing a part of Singapore to Singaporeans living overseas, to bringing family members together on shared trips, these initiatives have connected individuals, families, and now, communities. Aligned with this year's National Day theme of "Majulah Singapura, Go Beyond!", rallying citizens to do better for Singapore by showing care and concern for one another and the wider community, Scoot reached out to Care Corner and TOUCH Community Services to identify volunteer profiles who have exemplified selflessness and brought about positive impacts to the lives of others. As part of the backbone of Singapore's social safety net, volunteers are the silent heroes whose everyday acts of service embody the spirit of heroism. This group of people juggle multiple commitments in their personal and professional lives and oftentimes forget that they require care and rest as well.

A highlight of the trip included an experience on Scoot's Spider-Man: Brand New Day themed aircraft, an ode to the heroic spirits they exemplify daily. The volunteers enjoyed an immersive inflight experience with special decals and headrest covers in the cabin interior, music from Sony Pictures' Spider-Man: Brand New Day, a special welcome message from Spider-Man during boarding and exclusive merchandise. Beyond the flight, they also explored the historic city of Nanjing through a curated programme of cultural experiences, connected with fellow volunteers, and made lasting memories together.

Ms Lau Hui Ling, Director, Marketing, Public Relations and Loyalty at Scoot, said: "Heroism isn't always found in extraordinary moments; it can also be found in the small acts of kindness that make meaningful differences in our communities. This National Day, we are honoured to give back to the volunteers who have contributed to Singapore by treating them to a well-deserved break. Much like Spider-Man, these volunteers serve quietly behind the scenes, often helping others without seeking recognition or reward. Through our National Day initiative this year, we hope to connect with fellow citizens and remind them to appreciate the everyday heroes who have made positive impacts on their lives and the community."

Mr Gary Lim, Director of Partnership and Public Engagement, Care Corner Singapore, said: "Those who dedicate themselves to caring for others also need rest and time to recharge. This initiative and appreciation trip hosted by Scoot is a meaningful way to recognise the commitment of our volunteers. They have helped us to bring care to every corner in Singapore. Their tireless contribution is deeply valued and appreciated."

Mr James Tan, CEO, TOUCH Community Services, said: "National Day is a meaningful occasion to reflect on the people whose everyday acts of kindness and service help make Singapore stronger. Our volunteers walk alongside individuals and families across the community, inspiring hope and impacting lives through their time, care, and commitment. We are grateful that Scoot recognises their invaluable contributions and hope that this initiative will inspire more Singaporeans to play a part in giving back to the community."

Annex – Some Volunteer Profiles for Reference

Lim Hai Yian, 70 Volunteer Counsellor, Care Corner Singapore	Lim Hai Yan has dedicated more than two decades to volunteering with Care Corner Singapore. She first joined as a Board Member before becoming a volunteer counsellor in 2011, supporting individuals and families through regular counselling sessions, including returning to conduct night sessions for clients. Beyond direct counselling, she has trained fellow volunteers by leading Care Corner's 33rd batch of Hotline trainees and facilitating advanced workshops. Driven by a passion to support those in need, she continues to make a meaningful difference through her unwavering commitment to the community.
Lim Seng Choon, 72 Appropriate Adult for Young Suspects, Care Corner Singapore	Lim Seng Choon has been volunteering with Care Corner Singapore's Appropriate Adult Scheme for Young Suspects for the past eight years, supporting young persons as they navigate Singapore's justice system. Through his role, he provides guidance and reassurance while helping to safeguard the interests of young suspects during the investigation process. Motivated by a desire to give back to the community after retirement, Lim hopes to make meaningful use of his time by supporting youths in need. He is also committed to strengthening the programme by offering honest feedback and contributing to its continued improvement.
Chua Swee Cheng (David), 64 Volunteer, TOUCH Community Services	After becoming the sole caregiver for his elderly mother, David Chua made the difficult decision to leave his full-time job to care for her during the final chapters. While caregiving was deeply meaningful, it also left him with little opportunity to build friendships or pursue personal interests. Inspired by the dedication of volunteers at TOUCH Community Services, David began volunteering in 2025. Volunteering has given him a renewed sense of purpose and belonging, allowing him to build meaningful connections while supporting fellow seniors. Having spent years caring for his elderly mother, he has developed a deep empathy for older persons and hopes to make a positive difference in the lives of others by giving back to the community and supporting other seniors.

Yeo Zi En, 36 Volunteer Leader, TOUCH Community Services	Yeo Zi En began volunteering with TOUCH Community Services' Meals-on-Wheels programme six years ago to give back to the community. Through her regular meal deliveries, she gained a deeper understanding of the challenges faced by isolated seniors and the importance of ensuring that vulnerable members of the community remain connected and cared for. As a Volunteer Leader, Zi En believes that every visit is about more than delivering a meal. By offering warmth, companionship and meaningful conversations, she has built lasting relationships with the seniors she visits each week. Inspired by the impact these interactions have had, she remains committed to making a positive difference in their lives through volunteering.
